

2023 COLT Conference Workshop Descriptions

CHAPTER CHALLENGE:

Prototype development using Human Centered Design:

Pull your team together to develop a solution to a relevant design challenge using the Human Centered Design model. Final concepts will be displayed at the Conference closing session. Facilitated by Lyss Eng

Workshop #1: “What Did You Say?”

FACILITATORS: Jake and Nickie

Every team’s biggest issue is communication. Whether that is your officer or sports team, are you doing your part to make sure your message is clear? This workshop will help you create the simplest form of communication in your daily life.

Workshop #2: “Taking a Stance and Building your Brand”

FACILITATORS: Tommy, Emma, Sky

We are walking advocates of agriculture and the many things we believe in. Let’s learn to take a stance, influence those around us, and develop a positive identity of change!

Workshop #3: “First Things First”

FACILITATORS: Kelsey, Emily, Jordan, Abby

We get pulled in every direction and so does our time! Let’s explore how our values influence our priorities and learn how to be intentional with our time.

Workshop #4: “Empathize, Empower, and Elevate Your Skills: Navigating School Dynamics Together”

FACILITATORS: Julia and Addy

All of us in FFA strive to improve our leadership, active members grow as leaders too. Join this workshop for several fun activities that encourage using all the information available to you as decisions are made to support your peers in their own growth!

Workshop #5: “ Stay Tuned! ”

FACILITATORS: State Officers

Workshop #6: “The Next Step – Considering College Admissions”

FACILITATORS: CALS Admission Staff

The FFA has polished your skills, now it is time to consider taking them to the next level. Discuss admissions procedures, questions to consider, and timelines with Anna, admissions representative for Cornell’s College of Agriculture and Life Sciences.

Advisors Meeting: 10:30 2nd floor Foyer of Warren Hall
